INSIGHT

September 13 – Esther

Scripture:

Esther 7:2b, The king again asked, "What do you want Queen Esther? I'll give it to you. What do you want me to do for you? I'll give you up to half of my kingdom." 3 Then Queen Esther answered, "Your Majesty, I hope you will be pleased to let me live. That's what I want. Please spare my people. That's my appeal to you. (NIRV)

Message:

Imagine that you have been given the opportunity to spend a lot of money on yourself. Would you be willing to share it with others? Especially when you look at the long list of things you wish to buy, clothes, toys, a new cell phone with unlimited packages, other devices, trips to the mall and many other things. The last thing on your mind is to share your wealth with even the members of your family.

Queen Esther was given the opportunity to ask for and receive anything she wanted. Without even waiting for the answer, the king promised her half of his kingdom. And what did she do? She made sure that she used her position to help free her people from their depressing state. She used her position to help others. We too must not be selfish and try to keep all the good things to ourselves, but use our position to bring about a better life for ourselves and for others.
